DETAILED ACTION

1. This action is in response to Applicant's Amendments, filed on April 14, 2003. Have been fully considered but are deemed moot in view of new ground of rejections below. The applicant amended claims 1, 11, 14, 16 and added new claims 21-22. Claim 16 is canceled.
2. The pending claims are 1-15 and 17-22.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 1-15 and 17-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Maxey (U.S. Patent No. 5,590,320) in view of Uchinuma (U.S. Patent No. 5,440,737).

With respect to claims 1, 11, 14 and 19, Maxey discloses that the file manager provided for locating a file identified by a path referring to a unit and an identifier, table (path table, volume directories table, FIG. 2) for associating the file with a priority list (pointer identifying any next predecessor file with the same name if extant in the physical data volume, col. 1, lines 66-67 to col. 2, lines 1-7, which teaches that the pointer points the order of same files, priority) of physical units (media locations), see (FIG. 2, col. 1, lines 66-67 to col. 2, lines 1-7, col. 3, lines 37-62, col. 4, lines 35-57);

wherein the physical units stores a plurality of versions of the file, see (FIG. 2, col. 4, lines 58-67 to col. 5, lines 1-22, the files are assumed to differ only in the time of creation or last editing i.e., the file's date stamp, which teaches for a plurality of versions of file); and wherein the table comprises a plurality of associations of a same file logical path name (subdir/c has same file logical path, FIG. 2) and a file name (col. 4, lines 65-67 to col. 5, lines 1-7) in a one-to-one correspondence with a plurality of physical units (Volume Subdir Instances), see (FIG. 2, col. 4, lines 58-67 to col. 5, lines 1-22); wherein each of the plurality of associations comprises an association of a unique version of the file having the same file logical path name and the file name, see (col. 1, lines 31-39, FIG. 2, col. 4, lines 58-67 to col. 5, lines 1-22, col. 1, lines 57-67 to col. 2, lines 1-9).

Maxey discloses the table for associating the file, see (path table, and volume directory table, FIG. 2). Maxey does not explicitly disclose the priority list of physical units.

However, Uchinuma discloses the priority list of physical unit (volume subgroup on disk unit, for instance, table 5 has priority list with value 11 for volume subgroups 551 on disk (physical unit), 5, prioritized volume subgroup table, FIG. 1), see (FIG. 1, FIG. 2, col. 2, lines 12-20, col. 4, lines 8-67 to col. 5, lines 1-49). Therefore, it would have been obvious a person having ordinary skill in the art the time invention was made to combine the priority list of physical units of the system of Uchinuma with the system of Maxey to provide the physical unit's priority list with file. Because the assigning priority value to physical unit with file association can provides file allocation to store and retrieve file with efficient way.

With respect to claims 2-4, Maxey discloses that the unit for modifying the priority list, and attributes for each item, see (FIG. 3, col. 5, lines 28-67 to col. 6, lines 1-14, Note: adding new directory system changes the attributes).

With respect to claim 5, Maxey discloses that the table defines for the file a physical unit with a write attributes that differs from a physical unit with a read attributes, see (col. 1, lines 5-30).

With respect to claims 6-7, Maxey discloses that the unit for modifying the attributes, see (FIG. 3, col. 5, lines 28-67 to col. 6, lines 1-14, Note: adding new directory system changes the attributes).

With respect to claims 8-10, Maxey discloses that the controller of peripheral devices and the operating system in a computer system, comprising a file manager, see (file system, col. 1, lines 5-55).

With respect to claim 12, Maxey discloses that the plurality of versions of the file with a common logical identification are savable, see (col. 1, lines 31-39, FIG. 2, col. 4, lines 58-67 to col. 5, lines 1-22, col. 1, lines 57-67 to col. 2, lines 1-9).

With respect to claim 13, Maxey discloses that the modifying unit for modifying the priority list, to access any of the plurality of versions, see (col. 1, lines 31-39, FIG. 2, col. 4, lines 58-67 to col. 5, lines 1-22, col. 1, lines 57-67 to col. 2, lines 1-9).

With respect to claim 15, Maxey discloses that second request for a file logical path name and a file name is the same as first request, the file manager associates physical unit listed on the priority to the file name of the second request different from a physical unit associated with a file name of the first request, see (FIG. 5, col. 7, lines 7-55).

With respect to claim 17, Maxey discloses that the file manager selectively accesses a first association of a same file logical path name and a file name established prior to a second association of a file logical path name and a file name, see (FIG. 5, col. 7, lines 7-55).

With respect to claim 18, Maxey discloses that the file manager routes a subsequent request to access a same file logical path name and a same file name as previous request to a different version of the file logical path name and the file name on a different physical unit, see (FIG. 5, col. 7, lines 7-55).

With respect to claim 20, Maxey discloses that the physical unit holds a different version of the file, see (FIG. 2, col. 4, lines 58-67 to col. 5, lines 1-22).

With respect to claims 21-22, Maxey discloses that the unique version of the file is associated with a different priority list and same file logical pathname and file name and associated with different physical units comprises different attributes, see (col. 1, lines 31-39, FIG. 2, col. 4, lines 58-67 to col. 5, lines 1-22, col. 1, lines 57-67 to col. 2, lines 1-9).

Conclusion

5. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

Kuftedjian discloses the system for enabling linked files, such as those that are physically distinct but data dependent, to be simultaneously accessed. Elements, whether they are realized in hardware or software, are located in both the servers and the clients in a network. A remote data server (RDS) element in a server receives coupled file access (CFA) requests from clients. A corresponding element at the client includes the names of the linked files, a file access priority, and a file access communication timeout in the CFA request. The RDS element, upon accepting a CFA request, initializes a CFA thread. A CFA thread maps the requested files into virtual memory. The server, through the CFA thread, can then proceed to provide the requisite access from the virtual-memory-mapped images. Other elements within the network can therefore access the same files from the same or another virtual memory mapping. The coupled file accessing prevents mismatches of linked files.

6. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
